LABUAN: A Filipino who ran amok with a kitchen knife was nabbed by police early Monday.

The 28-year-old drug addict was having issues with his siblings when he ran amok in this island's downtown area.

Labuan police chief, Supt. Muhammad Farid Ahmad said the incident happened at 1.40 am, when the man was spotted by patrol policemen angrily running around with the knife in front of LPS Restaurant.

"There was a scuffle with the policemen as they tried to apprehend the man, but our men managed to put him under control," he said Monday.

The preliminary investigation revealed that the man, a construction worker, took the knife from the kitchen of a restaurant nearby and ran amok around the area, a high spot where a number of entertainment outlets and coffeehouses are located.
